According to the evidence of the church baptism books here there was born to the Häusler (cottager; village inhabitant with a small cottage, a garden, and few livestock, usually employed as a day-laborer) Philipp GLIK by his wife Anna nee SZAWOT(?) of Kadlub (also known as Starenheim) in the County of Gross Strehlitz, Governing District of Oppeln, in the Province of Silesia (Schlesien) Kingdom of Prussia, a legitimately conceived boy on the 31st (thirty-first) of March 1819 (eighteen hundred nineteen) and he was christened Franz in holy baptism on the same day.

Further, there was born here to the cabinetmaker (Tischler) Johann KOJ by his wife Josepha nee KURTZ a legitimately conceived daughter on the 9th (ninth) of April 1824 (eighteen hundred twenty-four) and she received the name Ludovica Catharina in holy baptism on the 11th (eleventh) of April 1824 (eighteen hundred twenty-four).

To him, namely to Franz GLIK and Ludovica Catharina nee KOJ, there was born in holy matrimony a girl on the 28th (twenty-eighth) of November 1852 (eighteen hundred fifty-two) and on the 30th (thirtieth) of November 1852 (eighteen hundred fifty-two) she was christened Francisca in holy baptism.
